

WELCOME TO PURPLE HOUSE!

At Purple House, we feel passionate about the provision of high quality, easy to access psychology services. Our status as an independent company allows us the flexibility to work in a way which is driven by the principles, aims and ethics of our profession.

We offer a range of services for all ages, including work with children and their families. Our services include therapy, assessment, parenting support, training, consultancy and supervision. Clients of Purple House include adults and families (self-referrals), local authorities, rehabilitation companies, solicitors, insurance companies and schools.

We have growing network of self-employed Associates who work with us at our Purple House clinics, or at other locations of their choosing. To meet increasing demand for our services, we are looking to expand this network further.

Rather than operating simply as a referral agency, we work very closely with our Associates and provide a range of support and services to our Associates. Working with us as a self-employed Associate Psychologist offers a number of advantages, making working in private practice simple and easy:

- You will have access to our Associates' webpage which offers help & guidance with the logistics of working privately, as well as providing useful clinical forms & resources.
- You will benefit from working within the professional parameters of our clinical governance strategy, which include giving you guidance on matters such as confidentiality, record keeping and data protection.
- You will be able to use our premises for consultations with our clients (room hire fee applies). We can also provide you with a list of other clinics you can use.
- You will benefit from our extensive marketing strategies – in other words, we will do the hard work for you by finding clients!
- We will select referrals for you based on your interests & skills.
- We will liaise with referrers & will be responsible for setting up contracts.
- We arrange all initial appointments, and send out appointment confirmations to clients.
- We actively manage cases, communicating regularly with referrers and ensuring the safe and timely transfer of documents and reports between all parties.
- We proof read all reports/letters.
- We are responsible for all the invoicing and payments. You will not have to deal with handling money from clients.
- You will gain valuable experience working with an emerging & dynamic company within the expanding independent sector.
- You will benefit from being part of our professional network & opportunities that this brings, including CPD events.
- You will have access to our test library.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to get in touch. We very much look forward to getting to know you, and sharing in a joint passion for psychology!
